Well I guess the old adage, you can't fight city hall, has been graphically proven in the case of former Police Officer Larry Avrech. Here we have a man who dedicated his life to protect and serve the people of San Diego, and now has been made out to be a bad guy and scape goat, for doing what he felt was right.

He made mistakes, and a few of his methods were questionable, but lets not forget the cause of Mr. Avrechs troubles. He blew the whistle on superiors on the police force who felt they were above the law. They were slapped on the wrist, Officer Avrech lost his job. He has suffered greatly for his honesty and beliefs. The financial strain, and personel stress are starting to take its toll.

If he is guilty of anything, it's holding principles of what is right or wrong over his own well being and future.

After he has had his day in court before an impartial jury, the truth will be known, but I can only hope that the problems Larry Avrech has been forced to endure, will not discourage others to stand up for what is right, because, you can fight city hall and WIN.

Sincerly,

M. Bryan
